Sar Pass Trek

The Sar Pass Trek is a classic and unforgettable trekking experience that offers breathtaking scenery and exhilarating thrills. The trail is a wanderer's dream, providing stunning views of snow-capped peaks, high-altitude camping amidst deep pine forests, and lush green meadows. This trek is a perfect opportunity to explore the humble Himalayan villages and witness the blanket of a billion stars stretching far and wide.

Starting from the backpacker's haven of Kasol, this easy to moderate-grade trek takes you on a gradual climb to the mesmerizing frozen lake. The locals refer to this lake as "Sar," which gives the trek its name. The trail is frequented by warm-hearted locals, providing a chance to make new acquaintances and learn about the local culture.

Sar Pass Itinerary

Day 1- Kasol to Grahan Village (6-7 km)

- Your Sar Pass trek starts from the centre of Kasol and keeps to the true left of the Grahan Nallah.
- The trail is easy and frequently used by locals and one can effortlessly cover a distance in a couple of hours.
- After passing the Grahan Nallah the trail becomes rocky and one will climb uphill, away from the right bank of the river and through the Rhododendron forest.
- Rhododendron petals can be eaten whole and the syrup can be mixed with water to make a refreshing drink.
- After a steep climb of about an hour, the Grahan Village is the last village of the trek and there will be no mobile network going forward.
- Overnight stay in a homestay at Grahan.

Day 2- Grahan to Ming Thach (6-7 km)

- Wake up to a beautiful view of the beautiful snow-clad mountains.
- After having a hearty breakfast, start your climb north of the camping ground of Grahan towards Ming Thach through the trail commonly used by the locals.
- Trek through the steeper path that leads into the woods with a thick cover of trees.

Sar Pass Itinerary

- As the slope becomes steeper the path will become challenging at some places.
- After crossing the forest arrive at your destination for the day, i.e., Ming Thach.
- One can easily see the Chandrakhani stretch and other prominent Himalayan ranges from here.
- Overnight stay at Mung Thach in a forest camp

Day 3- Ming Thach to Nagaru (6 km)

- Enjoy a gust of fresh cold breeze in the morning.
- You will then start the trek from Ming Thach to Nagaru which will pass through the woods.
- This is a difficult part of the trek, the slope falls steeply to the valley below and the snow may be slippery.
- After crossing a steep slope for a couple of hours, reach Nagaru campsite.
- When facing north you will see magnificent mountains across the Parvati valley and the beautiful town of Manikaran.
- Overnight camp stay at Nagaru.

Day 4- Nagaru to Biskeri Thach Via Sar Pass (7 km)

- Make an early start, as the climb is steep through the snow.
- Reach the top and enjoy the stunning views of Sar Pass and the elevated peaks of the Tosh Valley.

Sar Pass Itinerary

- Stay at the top for a bit to cherish your accomplishments and take some amazing pictures to freeze the moment in time.
- After that, you will have to slide down the Biskeri Thach, which is really exciting and completely harmless as long as some precautions are taken.
- Walk for an hour crossing a few streams to reach the valley and finally to the campsite of Biskeri Thach.
- Overnight stay at Biskeri Thach.

Day 5- Biskeri Thach to Kasol via Barshaini (7 km)

- Enjoy the sublime view of the pine forests, the majestic mountains, and the lush grasslands in Biskeri.
- From Biskeri, hike down across a steep plot of land with fencing all around.
- After crossing the dense forest cross a stream, with a campsite across.
- The path to the village of Pulga goes to the left of the campsite as the twin villages of Pulga and Tulga are separated by a stream.
- From Tulga, cross a bridge on the river Parvati, to reach the village of Barshaini.
- Jeep ride to Kasol base camp and your Sar Pass trekking ends.

Head back home with a happy heart full of lovely memories of this unforgettable journey with TrekAtribe!!

*Stay at Kasol and Volvo buses from Delhi/Chandigarh can be arranged at an additional cost.
